Art Unit: 3634

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schlecht et al '375 in view of Lichy. Schlecht et al '375 disclose a roller shade assembly comprising a winding shaft 32, a pull rod arrangement 36,39, a guide rail 19,21 the walls and back 23-25 of which respond to the claimed flanges. While Schlecht et al '375 do not disclose an elastic lip, Lichy discloses a roller assembly comprising a guide rail having an elastic lip 62,66,58,56,48,90,94, wherein, to incorporate this teaching into the roller shade assembly of Schlecht et al '375 for the purpose of sealing the guide rail would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

The applicants state that the reference to Lichy is not art that is analogous to the present invention in that it relates to a roller curtain for use in buildings and deals with the problem of minimizing damage from vehicles striking the door. It is noted that this argument is more specific than the claims for the claims of the instant application are drawn to the shade per se and not to the combination of the shade and the motor vehicle. Even so, the roller curtain as disclosed by Lichy is from the applicants field of endeavor, wherein, the applicant is presumed to have full knowledge of the prior art in their respective field.

The applicants argue that Lichy does not concern the problem of providing a window shade which is reliable in operation while not creating distractful noise. This argument is not convincing for the elastic lip 62,66,58,56,48,90,94 as disclosed by Lichy which are in engagement with the shade inherently provides the function of maintaining the shade in a predetermined path thereby alleviating any rattling noises which might occur otherwise.

2. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
